Republican Caucuses.

The Republican voters of the City of Bangor are hereby invited to meet at

CITY HALL,
Friday Evening, March 9, 1883
at 7.30 o'clock,
to nominate a candidate for MAYOR.

They are also invited to meet at the polling places in the various Wards on SATURDAY EVENING, March 10th, at 7.30 o'clock to nominate candidates for Aldermen, Councilmen and Ward Officers, to be voted for at the Municipal election, March 12th, 1883

By order of the Republican City Committee
G. A. DAVENPORT Chairman
March 6, 1883

J. G. Richardson, Esq., of Bath, Republican candidate for Mayor, declines to be a candidate for the next election. He says he deems the unity of the party of more importance than other considerations.

For the last six years the Senate of the United States has contained two members by the name of Davis, one from Illinois and one from West Virginia, but both are now private citizens. Each is immensely wealthy and highly respectable.

The floods have caused serious loss of life at Helena, Ark., while the suffering and distress are said to be horrible. The water continues to rise, and the plantation and bottom lands are being deserted, the people seeking protection in the hills. Lumber is being swept away by the thousand feet, the losses being immense.

Editor Boutelle has been made happy by the gift of the photographs of Gov. Plaisted's Council, handsomely framed. It is needless to say a picture of the Governor was not included.—Portland Argus.

The Argus is mistaken. "A picture of the Governor is included," a very handsome likeness of Governor Frederick Robie occupying the centre of the group.

What is this astonishing proposition to pay John C. Talbot as a member of the 59th Legislature, which he helped to count out, whose sessions he refused to attend and the validity of which he persistently denied. We can hardly credit even the Kennebec Journal's report that the House has passed such a resolve. It would be simply amazing.

The remains of John Howard Payne are now on their way to this country by the steamer Burgundia of the new Fabre Line, which is on her maiden voyage to New York. She left Palermo on March 1, will proceed to Naples to take on passengers and sail directly to New York, touching at Gibraltar for coal. She is expected to arrive about the 22nd inst.

The Hon. Charles J. Faulkner, of Martinsburg, W. Va., claims to have in his possession well preserved, the desk and chair once long occupied in the National House of Representatives by John Quincy Adams. The desk is also in possession of Ben Perley Poore the veteran correspondent, at his Newburyport house and is also shown to visitors in one of the committee-rooms of the House of Representatives, so there is no doubt about it.

We regret very much that the House should have passed an order submitting to the Supreme Court a series of technical questions and mathematical propositions concerning the legislative apportionment of the State. The Legislature has exercised its best judgment in performing a duty devolved upon it and those who advocated invoking the opinion of the Court concede that they do not expect to receive any answer before the adjournment of the present session. The apportionment has been carefully considered in committee, thoroughly discussed and adopted in both branches, and the law has been signed by the Governor.

Half a dozen Greenback Representatives of the recent Congress have issued an address in which they insist that the Government issue all the paper money to such an extent as Congress shall determine, and that all the reserve fund be paid out for bond redemption. These six Greenbackers also insist that all legal tender notes paid out should always remain as a circulating medium in the hands of the people. To carry out this plan would ruin the working man and produce such a chaos of inflation and collapse as the country never saw before. Fortunately these absurd ideas were never less in need of being shown up than they are [illegible]

From [illegible] annual report of the trustees of the Peabody bequests in London it appears that 7,829 rooms, occupied by 14,604 persons, have been provided for the laborers of the metropolis and that 33 blocks containing 1,885 rooms will be opened during the present year. The vital statistics of the Peabody buildings are striking. The birth rate for the past year was 45.04 per 1,000 which is 10.74 per 1,000 higher than that of all London for the same period. The death rate was 18.43 per 1,000 which is 2.98 per 1,000 lower than London. The infant mortality was 137.41 to each 1,000 births, or 13.59 per 1,000 below that of London.

A Maine shipbuilder regards the outlook for his business as very promising. With all the drawbacks, says the Lewiston Journal there has been of late quite a pressing demand for vessels of a medium class for the coasting trade and he believes that with the relief furnished by Congress the industry will receive a new impetus. Years ago it was a common thing for people of means, even in the inland towns and cities, to invest in vessels and the time is coming when such investments will again become popular. A vessel in the coasting trade, with a fair business will pay its owners twelve per cent. and keep itself in repair and there are few investments which pay better. As soon as our merchants "get the hang" of the foreign trade again so that wooden vessels can have a definite trade without being obliged to go from port to port seeking for cargoes, the foreign trade will be very profitable as it was years ago, and it is believed that the demand for large vessels for the foreign trade will set in with some vigor before long. At all events, the shipbuilders are feeling very cheerful over the situation, although they think it might be still further improved by legislation. Although the Dingley shipping bill failed of passage at the last moment in the House the tariff bill probably furnishes some relief to the shipbuilders.

THE TARIFF AND BUSINESS.

[Boston Journal.]

The effect which the passage of the Tariff bill will have in imparting confidence to business circles and stability to business transactions can scarcely be overestimated. Business in most departments is usually quiet during the first two months of the year, but this year the ordinary quiet deepened into a stagnation which caused a general anxiety; and the chief reason for this unusual dullness of trade was the uncertainty which has been everywhere felt concerning the action of Congress on the tariff. With the two houses of Congress at work upon widely variant bills, and the session slipping by so fast that even the best informed Congressmen did not dare to predict whether an agreement was possible, business men, manufacturers, importers and all classes of dealers have been at sea, not knowing on what basis to conduct their transactions, nor what the values of their stock might be after Congress had gone through its work. With the standards of value so shifting and uncertain, the natural tendency has been to retrench operations to the narrowest limits—a tendency which is doubtless more healthy than the opposite tendency to over trading but which nevertheless has depressing and sometimes disastrous results, if it is carried too far.

The passage of the Tariff bill lifts a load from business, and business men breathe freer in consequence. It restores to manufactures and business, what they have not had for months, an assured basis for their transactions; and what is perhaps more important still, it furnishes a guarantee that this basis will not be disturbed for a considerable time to come. An adjustment having been reached not even the Democratic Congress which will assemble next winter will have the hardihood to reopen the question. The adjustment was a necessity, and the months intervening between the session just closed and the first session of the new Congress would have been months of anxiety and trouble if no tariff bill had been passed and the matter had gone over for another year, to be discussed and agitated in a Congress where the elements hostile to American industries would be much stronger than in this.

It is to be expected, of course, that the Tariff bill will be assailed, but the assaults in the main will be from the extremists on both sides. No adjustment is conceivable which would suit every one, or which would avoid criticism, because it is impossible that conflicting interests should be satisfied at the same time. But there will be a general concurrence of opinion among all moderate and reasonable men that the reductions effected by this bill are as large as it was prudent to make, and that, both in its internal revenue and its tariff provisions the measure tends to the relief of the consumer and the stability of business without dealing harshly with any important industry. The passage of the bill should and we doubt not will, induce a more cheerful feeling in business circles.

COMMENTS OF THE NEW TARIFF BILL

THE SATISFACTION GENERAL

[From a Washington Letter to the Philadelphia Press, Rep.]

A day's reflection deepens the general feeling of satisfaction over the passage of the Tax and Tariff bill. The response of the country is unmistakably an impression of approval. Telegrams of indorsement and congratulation have been pouring in from many quarters.

LUCKY FOR BOTH PARTIES

[From the Philadelphia Times, Ind.]

Both parties have been lucky, the majority Republicans in giving the country a tariff, and the minority Democrats in getting a tariff in spite of their regulation stupidity. Considering the grave peril that threatened the business stability of the Nation we heartily welcome the enactment of the tariff of 1883.

A VALUABLE REVISION

[From the Chicago Tribune, Rep.]

The new tariff law is in the nature of a valuable revision. There has been some reduction on the whole, though it is not so large as the country demanded nor is the Tariff Commission promised.

A DESIRABLE SETTLEMENT

[From the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, Rep.]

It is well that the tariff question has been settled. Business men can now adjust their affairs to the new order of things and go ahead without straining themselves in efforts to penetrate and uncertain future, which is rendered more uncertain when it depends upon the action of Congress.

Mr. McPherson, Clerk of the last House of Representatives, remarked to a correspondent that in his long experience the end of a Congress never found the current official work in such complete and satisfactory shape as now. Remembering that Mr. McPherson served as a Representative from 1859 to 1863, and that he has been Clerk of the House during seven Congresses since that period, the correspondent asked, "How does the work of the XLVIIth Congress compare with that of its predecessors within your experience and observation?"

"I think it is fully equal to any of them," was the reply. "In the number and importance of general public measures enacted it exceeded any Congress for a long period. The great measures which came before Congress in the years after the war were few in number, comparatively, and were mostly of a political nature."

The new Tariff law will devolve upon the Treasury a vast amount of work and it is doubtful whether there will be force enough in some of the bureaus to perform the new duties. This is especially true of the customs division. The force in that division has never been adequate to the very intricate and laborious details which it has to perform. Nominally the Secretary of the Treasury had the final decision in all cases of appeal from customs decisions, but in the point of fact nearly all of the work is done by the subordinates. Judge Folger, however, from his judicial habit, and the necessity which he feels of making a personal investigation of all important subjects, is not so successful in using subordinates for routine work as most of his predecessors, and he expects to have much to do with the new duties. The new law is so different in many respects from the old one that it will almost make a revolution in the work of the customs officials. The classifications are different, the rates of duty are different, and the methods of imposing and collecting the duty, in many instances are different. The long series of customs decisions under the tariff, which has grown up during the last twenty years, will in many particulars not be applicable to the new conditions. New decisions will have to be made, an almost endless number of arguments heard, and the cases will become precedents under the new law. The time left to prepare for this new order of things in the customs service is none too great. There remain but three months, in fact, before the new sugar schedule is to go into effect.—Wash. Cor. Boston Journal.

In a letter to a friend at Winona, ex-Senator Windom says: "I am looking forward to the freedom of private life with pleasure, and if any who call themselves my enemies imagine I am consumed with grief they are greatly mistaken. I have seen statements in some of the papers that I am going to make my residence in New York. I wish to say to you that I have no intention to change my residence from Minnesota. I love the State and its people and shall continue to make it my home although I may be in New York some time to carry out certain [illegible] engagements but have no [illegible] there. My greatest [illegible] not be in a position to [illegible] have done so much for me."

Frederick Lurger, who died at Davenport, Iowa, last Wednesday, [illegible] five years [illegible] to have been the first railroad locomotive engineer in the United States. His first experience in that calling was in 1836 on the Albion, the engine built by George Stephenson and run on the old State road from Philadelphia to Columbia, Penn. He remained constantly at the work of engine driving until 1856 when he retired to farm life. In 1876 he was invited by the late Colonel Tom Scott to visit the Exposition at Philadelphia and on his way there and back again to Davenport he rode in his old place in the cab, and handled the lever as skilfully as ever, thus literally working his passage although his pockets were full of first class passes over all the road.

The imports of merchandise for the month of December, 1882, were: Dutiable, $14,111,841; free of duty, $39,388,508; total, $59,500,349, as against a total of $57,337,602 for the month of December, 1881. For the twelve months ended December 31, 1882, the imports were: Dutiable, $538,807,117; free of duty, $214,036,390; total, $752,843,507, as against a total of $670,209,448 for the twelve months ended December 31, 1881. The exports of domestic merchandise for the month of December, 1882, were $80,362,648, as against $74,983,668 for December, 1881. For the twelve months ended December 31, 1882, the amount of exports of domestic merchandise was $749,911,309, as against $814,162,951 for the twelve months ended December 31, 1881. The exports of foreign merchandise for the month of December, 1882, were: Dutiable, $878,427; free of duty, $1,724,951; total, $2,603,378, as against a total of $2,117,974 for December, 1881. For the twelve months ended December 31, 1882, the totals were $18,070,637, as against $19,386,176 for the twelve months ended December 31, 1881.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

A Report From Lieut. Harber.

WASHINGTON, March 7 Under date of Irkutsk, December 8, 1882, Lieut Harber writes to the Secretary of the Navy, giving a detailed report of the operations of his party in their search for the missing people of the Jeannette On the midnight between June 23d and 24th they left Irkutsk for the Lena Delta, arriving at Bulein, July 3d They took in the stores left by Engineer Melville and fitted out four parties with native boats Then followed the chief incidents of the search of the different parties from day to day. The difficulties experienced from shoal water and the impossibility of procuring native guides frequently compelled them to wade and drag their boats for miles

On the morning of August 21st they reached Matvai visited the tomb of Lieut. De Long and his companions and put to it heavy [illegible] through the standard and arms of the cross in accordance with the request of Engineer Melville Thence the [illegible] continued to the northward and on the 31st they reached the spot where Lieut. De Long and party were found. A search was made to see if anything remained hid under the snow, but nothing of consequence was found.

Returning the party reached Bulein on the 16th of September Here the Jeannette party was placed in charge of Ensign Hunt and the search was continued by Lieut. Harber and Schultz on sledges.

Lieut Harber then gives an account of the points visited and the distances traveled and notes their return to Bulein on the 6th of November, and adds, "I regret to say that no trace of Chipp or his party or his boat has been seen by us or any of the natives It is probable that I communicated with every native of the Delta and with those who were near the coast." The balance of the report relates to the arrangements for the removal of the remains of Lieut De Long and party

Internal Revenue Taxation

The following is the full text of the tariff bill relating to the reduction of internal revenue taxation which provides that the taxes herein specified imposed by the laws now in force be and the same are hereby repealed, as hereinafter provided namely On capital and deposits of banks, bankers and national banking associations except such taxes as are now due and payable, and on and after the first day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-three be stamp tax on bank checks, drafts orders and vouchers and the tax on matches perfumery, medicinal preparations and other articles imposed by Schedule A following section thirty four hundred and thirty-seven of the Revised Statutes, provided that no drawback shall be allowed upon articles embraced in said schedule that shall be exported on and after the first day of July 1883, provided, further, that on and after May 15th 1883 matches may be removed by manufacturers thereof from the place of manufacture in warehouses within the United States without attaching thereto the stamps required by law, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue

Sec 2 That on and after the first day of May eighteen hundred and eighty three, dealers in leaf tobacco shall annually pay twelve dollars, dealers in manufactured tobacco shall pay two dollars and forty cents, all manufacturers of tobacco shall pay six dollars, manufacturers of cigars shall pay six dollars, peddlers of tobacco snuff and cigars shall pay special taxes as follows Peddlers of the first class, as now defined by law shall pay thirty dollars, peddlers of the second class shall pay fifteen dollars, peddlers of the third class shall pay seven dollars and twenty cents, and peddlers of the fourth class shall pay three dollars and sixty cents Retail dealers in leaf tobacco shall pay two hundred and fifty dollars, and thirty cents for each dollar on the amount of their monthly sales in excess of the rate of five hundred dollars per annum, provided that farmers and producers of tobacco may sell at the place of production tobacco of their own growth and raising at retail directly to consumers to an amount not exceeding one hundred dollars annually

Sec 3 That hereafter the special tax of a dealer in manufactured tobacco shall not be required from any farmer, planter, or lumberman who furnishes such tobacco only as rations or supplies to his laborers or employes in the same manner as other supplies are furnished by him to them, provided, that the aggregate of the supplies of tobacco so by him furnished shall not exceed in quantity one hundred pounds in any one special tax year; that is, from the first day of May in any year until the thirtieth day of April in the next year, and provided further, that such farmer, planter or lumberman shall not be, at the same time he is furnishing such supplies, engaged in the general business of selling dry goods, groceries, or other similar supplies in the manner of a merchant or store-keeper to others than his own employes or laborers

Sec 4 That on and after May first, eighteen hundred and eighty three, the internal taxes on snuff, smoking and manufactured tobacco shall be eight cents per pound, and on cigars which shall be manufactured and sold or removed for consumption or sale on and after the first day of May, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, there shall be assessed and collected the following taxes, to be paid by the manufacturer thereof On cigars of all descriptions, made of tobacco or any substitute therefor three dollars per thousand, on cigarettes weighing not more than three pounds per thousand, fifty cents per thousand, on cigarettes weighing more than three pounds per thousand three dollars per thousand Provided, that on all original and unbroken factory packages of smoking and manufactured tobacco and snuff, cigars, cheroots and cigarettes held by manufacturers or dealers at the time such reduction shall go into effect, upon which the tax has been paid, there shall be allowed a drawback or rebate of the full amount of reduction, but the same shall not apply in any case where the claim has not been presented within sixty days following the date of the reduction, and such rebate to manufacturers may be paid in stamps at the reduced rate; and no claim shall be allowed or drawback paid for a less amount than ten dollars. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, to adopt such rules and regulations and to prescribe and furnish such blanks and forms as may be necessary to carry this section into effect.

Sec 5 That from and after the passage of this act every manufacturer of tobacco or snuff shall, in addition to all other requirements of law, print on each package, or securely affix by pasting on each package containing tobacco or snuff manufactured by or for him a label on which shall be printed the number of the manufactory, the district and State in which it is situated and these words.

NOTICE

The manufacturer of this tobacco has required to all requirements of law. Every person is cautioned, under penalties of law, not to use this package for tobacco again

Two Cent Check Stamps

The Comptroller of the Currency has received many letters in reference to the redemption of the 2-cent check stamps. He says that the 2-cent check stamp is not required by law to be used after July 1 next. The law provides for the redemption of stamps not used, provided they are presented for payment within the three years from the time of purchase from the government.

FOREIGN CROPS,

Report from London—A Poor Prospect.

WASHINGTON, March 7 The statistical agent of the Department of Agriculture in London reports continued rains and floods, great injury to the wheat crop and gloomy apprehensions of the worst failure for years. The area is reduced and much resowing will be necessary. There is also much alarm at the spread of the foot and mouth disease among the cattle Local fairs throughout Great Britain have been closed and orders passed in the Council prohibiting the movement of farm animals from Scotland to Ireland till the 31st of March.

THE WEATHER

WAR DEP'T, OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D. C., Mar. 8—(1 A. M.)

Indications.

For New England: Fair weather; westerly, veering to northerly winds; stationary or lower temperature; higher pressure.

STAR ROUTE TRIAL.

Fined for Contempt.

WASHINGTON, March 7 Col Ingersoll opened the Star Route case for the defence by calling Representative James B Belford, of Colorado After devoting some time to his examination an attempt was made to have the witness testify as to the alleged check received from Dorsey, but the Court ruled it out.

When Mr Belford was directed to stand aside he appeared agitated, took up his hat, walked to the counsel's table and turning to the Court, said with much feeling "Your Honor, I wish to ask the indulgence of the Court and courtesy of the bar to make a personal statement in regard to the charges affecting my honor.

Mr Merrick at once objected.

"Give me the poor privilege," pleaded Belford, "of making a statement?"

"This is not a public meeting," replied the Court. "We are trying the case judicially."

"I state before the living God," said Belford solemnly and indignantly, "that I never saw such a check."

Turning on his heel, Belford started from the court room, but was recalled by the Judge, who exclaimed angrily, "Come here, sir; bring Belford here."

Belford having returned, the Court inquired what he had said, and Belford repeated it with emphasis

"This is contempt of Court," exclaimed His Honor, "and the Court imposes a fine of $100, and you stand committed till it is paid."

"I will pay $500" retorted Belford defiantly "but no man shall stab my character."

"This is a degree of impertinence and insolence which the Court will not permit to take place in its presence," indignantly continued His Honor.

Carpenter inquired whether the Court had jurisdiction to impose a fine without issuing a rule to show the cause.

"Certainly it has," replied the Court. "It is disorder in Court, which the Court can take notice of immediately."

Ingersoll and Davidge asked that the Court might let the fine go, and urged that there might be something pardonable in the natural indignation of one whose fair fame had been assailed

The Court said Belford has occupied a place of consequence before the country many years. Belford arose, but the Court hastily bade him be seated, saying he was not addressing him. The Court then proceeded to review Rerdell's testimony upon the point in question, and said Belford would not but know that the proposed explanation could not be allowed There was nothing wrong in his request, but after he had been refused it was a gross violation of the authority of the Court to persist in delivering himself, as he had done The Court therefore declined to remit the fine.

Ingersoll—"Will the Clerk accept my check for the amount?"

The Court—"Oh certainly."

Ingersoll turned to Belford and said "you can go, I believe," and the gentleman immediately availed himself of the privilege

The next witness was Secretary Teller, who testified that while in the Senate he frequently called on Brady to secure an increase or expedition of mail routes in Colorado

S W Dorsey is out with a card denying that he ever gave Mr Belford a check as testified to by Rerdell.

NEW YORK

The Governor's Veto of the Five Cent Bill Sustained.

ALBANY, March 7. The Assembly tonight by a vote of 66 to 58 sustained the Governor's veto of the five cent elevated railroad fare bill

Thief Arrested.

Geo Carson, alias Heywood, a notorious bank sneak thief, was arrested in this city to-day charged with the larceny of $70 000 worth of railroad bonds from the office of the Guarantee Safe Deposit Company in Philadelphia on Thursday last.

Sentenced to Death.

ELIZABETHTOWN, March 7. Henry Debo[illegible], who murdered his wife last August, was convicted to-day and sentenced to be hanged April 27th.

THE FLOODS.

Water Rising.

VICKSBURG, March 7. The news from all points in this section is unfavorable. The back water almost entirely surrounds the delta, levee in Louisiana, and work there will have to be suspended. The El[illegible] protection levee gave way in the storm this morning and the gaps now are beyond control. This will cause serious damage to the lower portion of Issaquena Parish, and overflow many plantations. The river has risen one and one half inches here to day.

A Sad State of Affairs

MEMPHIS March 7 The steamer James Lee arrived here this afternoon from Friars Point, bringing 200 negroes from the submerged farms. Her officers report the country between Memphis and Helena, Ark, under water, except where strips of the levee yet remains. Austin, Miss, is overflowed and water to the depth of several feet rushes through the town A rapid rise in the St Francis river caused a great loss to lumbermen, as thousands of logs were swept away by the swift current Much suffering exists among the inhabitants of the sunken lands and their isolated position makes it almost impossible to afford them relief

A MURDERER'S CONFESSION

He Maintains His Innocence Until the Eve of Execution and then Confesses

SPRINGFIELD March 7 J B Loomis, who is to be hanged to morrow for the murder of David Levitt, Dec. 1st, 1881 has made a full confession of his crime. He shot his victim while the two were driving through a covered bridge two miles from this city, threw his pistol into the river drove to a neighboring piece of woods, left his carriage and the corpse there and walked to Westfield. At the latter place he concealed the money and watch taken from Levitt's body The murderer seems perfectly calm to-night and promises to go through to-morrow's execution without flinching. His spiritual advisor was with him during the afternoon and evening leaving him at 10 P. M. Loomis then retired.

FOREIGN NEWS

Murchie, Esq and wife, and Capt A E Neill all of Calais are at the Bangor House Lieut Col Wm F Boardman, of Calais, also arrived in the city yesterday from the South to attend the reception Col Benson, of Portland is at the Penobscot Exchange

MAINE BOYS IN THE WEST The friends of Mr F M Bisbee, of Livermore Centre will be pleased to learn that Mr B is now chief engineer of a Mexican railroad at a salary of $3,000 a year Mr E H Beckler, also from Livermore, is assistant engineer of the Northern Pacific at a salary of $175 per month Messrs Bisbee and Beckler are graduates of the Maine State College in the class of '76.

LECTURE IN HAMPDEN A correspondent writes The popularity of Rev W W Marsh as Presiding Elder of the Bangor district was so great as to draw out a very fine audience at Hampden last Monday evening, to listen to his most excellent lecture on "Unnoted Forces From the beginning until the close he had the closest attention, and all went away feeling they had been amply repaid for the sacrifice made in view of the severity of the weather

A GOOD ARRANGEMENT Among the improvements at Norombega Hall is one which will be thoroughly appreciated during the reception this evening At the main entrance to the hall the lobby has been extended and an additional series of doors constructed, enabling persons to enter the hall by the right or left, and by keeping the main doors closed, the draft, so extremely disagreeable to persons in the hall, is largely avoided

AN ANCIENT FIRE ENGINE The fire department of Castine owns what is probably the oldest fire engine in the State When it was built is not known, but it was purchased in 1804, and bears on the plate the inscription, "Stephen Thayer, Fecit, Boston " It is rather a rude contrivance compared with the engine of the present day All the water used had to be poured into the tank by means of buckets, otherwise the action is similar to that of the modern engine

RAPID RAILROADING The proposed fast train between St John and Boston, to be inaugurated June 1st, may be regarded as a certainty Nearly all the preliminaries have been arranged, and when the schedule of time is amended to suit connections, the scheme will be consummated of sending a train from St John to Boston in fifteen hours The great reduction of time will chiefly be effected by increase of speed on the Maine Central, from Vanceboro to Portland, which has lately been equipped with new rails and rolling stock.

ICE IN THE BAY A Belfast correspondent writes concerning the ice in the bay and affirms that some errors have occurred in recent published reports He says: "The Boston and Bangor Steamship Company's steamer have failed but once this winter in reaching their wharf in Belfast On the 10th of February the Cambridge landed her freight at Campground wharf Since then she has not been troubled to get here There is considerable thin ice in the bay but not thick enough to bother the boats The Katahdin left here Monday with a full freight"

RAILROAD IMPROVEMENTS AT VANCEBORO Travelers going east or west cannot fail to enjoy the very handsome provision made for their waiting comfort at Vanceboro, now that the new station rooms are about finished The apartments for both ladies and gentlemen are large, light, airy, handsomely painted and provided with all needed conveniences in the way of wash rooms, water closets, etc , furnished with the most modern and elegant arrangements General Manager Tucker, of the Maine Central, seems inspired with the determination to do all in his power to contribute to the comfort of those who patronize his road

GARLAND ITEMS. Our Garland correspondent writes It was cold and stormy Tuesday evening, but for all that, there assembled at the Town Hall quite a respectful number of the good citizens of Garland to partake of an oyster stew gotten up for the benefit of a worthy widow and family The receipts in cash was $26 besides a gift of a barrel of flour from the Lodge of Free Masons, making in all about $35 —— The blacksmith shop of Howard Clark's took fire from ashes kept in a barrel, and made quite a blaze last Thursday night about half past nine o'clock, but was seen and extinguished before much damage was done. ——A house occupied by Mr Philbrick caught fire on the roof from a burning chimney Tuesday, and damaged the roof by burning through and tearing up the shingles in a number of places before it could be put out ——Monday night was the coldest night of the winter in Garland, the thermometer registering 22°.

SUICIDE IN ETNA

A Farmer Hangs Himself with a Halter to a Beam in His Barn

A Carmel correspondent writes

George H Carter, a farmer residing on the Plymouth road in Etna, near the Carmel line, suicided Wednesday morning about sunrise by hanging himself with a large halter to the beam in his barn. He has been in a despondent state of mind at intervals for many years and at two different times has attempted to commit suicide in the same manner, but was detected in season to prevent it.

About two months ago his wife died and the loss so affected him that his friends have been fearful that he would take his life and they have therefore kept a close watch of his movements He went to the barn and was soon followed by a young man in his employ. When the man reached the barn he found the unfortunate man suspended between the floor and beams. He at once called the neighbors, who reside across the road from Carter's premises and in a few moments they cut the body down and all efforts to restore him to life were unavailing and in about five minutes he ceased to breathe.

The deceased was about sixty years of age and leaves a daughter and son to mourn their loss. He resided on a large farm, but it is reported that he was considerably involved in debt and has of late worried about it very much and it was no doubt one of the causes that led to his committing the deed

He was a kind and affectionate husband and father and a good neighbor and he will be sadly missed in his locality.

THE GRAND RECEPTION TO-NIGHT.

The Arrangements Completed—Norombega in Gay Attire—One of the Most Brilliant Social Events Ever Given in Bangor Anticipated.

The reception to Governor Robie and Major-General Chamberlain and their Staffs by the Field and Staff Officers and Honorary Members of the Second Regiment, M V M, will be given to-night and there is every prospect of it proving one of the most brilliant social events in the history of our city.

Norombega has undergone a wonderful transformation and will present a most attractive appearance on this occasion The new floor is a very fine one and will be an excellent for dancing purposes Mr Lovell has been very busily engaged for several days and the decorations are now about completed The decorations are of a very unique and elaborate style, and make the hall look very inviting Near the stage there will be pitched two tents one for Governor Robie and the other for General Chamberlain There will be flags, stands of arms and knapsacks employed in the decoration and the military feature of the ball will be kept prominent

The special train with Governor Robie and party is expected to arrive from Augusta about half past twelve to-day Gov Robie and General Chamberlain and their staffs will make their headquarters at the Bangor House The doors of Norombega Hall will open to guests at eight o'clock the evening and the Governor and party supposed to arrive at about that hour The reception will begin at half past eight and will be followed by the dancing for which delightful music will be furnished by Andrews' Orchestra

The ladies' dressing rooms will be on the right and left from the main entrances and will be each in the charge of two ladies who will tend to the wants of the guests These rooms will be carpeted and the walk will be carpeted all the distance to the street The gentlemen will use Concert Hall, over the entrance to Norombega, and two experienced gentlemen will be in attendance there to check clothing Gov Robie and Gen Chamberlain and party will have rooms in the rear of the stage each room in charge of two ladies

In order to facilitate matters and prevent confusion it has been arranged that all coaches bringing passengers to the hall shall drive from the foot of Hammond street through Central street and after stopping at the hall continue to Harlow street and after the ball is over the coaches will come through from Harlow street stop at the hall and then continue towards Hammond street.

Lieut Col Frederick H Strickland will officiate as floor director during the dancing and he will be assisted by the following aids: Capt E M Hersey G F Godfrey, F H Small, Jacob Stern G L Jefferds, G E Dole F R Mason and L A Barker

AMUSEMENTS

Jesse James

The sensational drama of "Jesse James, the Bandit King" drew a large audience to the Opera House last evening, the gallery being crowded to overflowing. The play is very animated and many of the features were received with marked applause A negro minstrel brought down the house with his songs and the horses Bay Raider and Roan Charger appeared to fine advantage on the stage The same play will be given again to night

Notes

Miss Margaret Mather is recovering very rapidly from the serious illness which prostrated her a week ago last Friday and her physicians say she will be enabled after a fortnight's more rest, to resume acting.

Obituary.

Dr Amasa Barrett, a notice of whose death has already appeared in our columns, was born in Rome, Mass , Sept. 9, 1802 On arriving at a suitable age to choose a profession, he commenced the study of medicine at the New York Medical Institute, and with Dr. Brigham, of Greenfield, with whom he afterward entered into partnership. Moving from that town he settled in New Salem, near by, and continued his professional practice. Subsequently, he studied dentistry in Boston, and about 1840, after the death of his first wife, he moved to this city, where he practiced his new profession for more than twenty years. On giving it up he purchased a farm in Brewer, to which he removed and has there resided ever since. In 1844 he married Miss Cornelia Crosby, second daughter of the late Oliver Crosby, of Atkinson, Maine, who, with an only child, Mrs. Juliet Golay, survives him. For several years, physical infirmities and total blindness have prevented him both from labor and mingling with his fellow-citizens.

Many of our readers very well remember Dr. Barrett, when he was a practicing dentist in Bangor, and they will think of him as a gentleman of urbane manners, tender heart, public spirit, and whose daily walk and life were a continual illustration of the Christian spirit.

The nearest you can come to an exactly square acre, with an even number of feet on the sides, is to make it 220 feet long by 180 feet broad.

EARLY PEAS.—The American Wonder Pea is considered the best early variety—a great cropper, dwarf, and very sweet. We are indebted to R. W. Murch, Esq , for a liberal supply of seed. Ashes is the best manure for peas.

There is more nutriment in straw than is commonly supposed, and if rich food like corn or cotton-seed meal is fed, more will be eaten by stock. Straw alone is not nutritious enough for perfect feed, while corn or cotton-seed meal are too concentrated.

The Scotch, always a thrifty race, are investing largely in American cattle ranches During 1882, ten large ranches for herding cattle were bought by Scotchmen. The profit is so much greater than from any use the money can be put to at home, that investments of this kind are sure to increase.

When a potato is exposed to the light in a cellar, the eyes nearly all start out a good healthy green sprout, but if in a pile or in darkness, only the strongest eyes grow long, white, worthless sprouts. Hence, seed potatoes should be spread thinly in the light. The sprouts should not be broken off when cutting the seed for planting.

Before filling up vacant places in the orchard with young trees, it is best to think whether the full grown trees now standing, will not, with good manuring, bring more fruit than a larger number would Most of our orchards were planted too closely, and the tree roots interlace so as to rob each other of what fertility each should have.

Early hatched chickens are more vigorous than those produced later in the season, when hot and dry weather addles half the eggs while incubation is in progress. It is more trouble to care for the very earliest chickens during cold, wet weather in March or April, but the cockerels will bring fancy prices as early broilers, and the pullets will be good layers next winter

In setting an orchard it is well to get it on upland, not only on account of better drainage, but also because trees set on alluvial soil make a growth of leaves and wood rather than of fruit. On low ground the fruit will often be large, but not so well colored or highly flavored as on upland where the wood growth is smaller, and both leaves and fruit have a fuller exposure to the sun's rays.

While, in a degree, the heat of an animal is produced from its food, and therefore warm stables and steamed food and warmed water seem economical, yet it is doubtless true that animals are often greatly refreshed by drinking cold water The thirsty man does not warm his favorite beverage, even if its effect be recognized in the saving of food. The human system seems to require cold drink at times

From the Agricultural Department at Washington we find that the average price of corn in the entire United States for eleven years, from 1871 to 1881, inclusive, appears to be about forty-three cents per bushel. The highest annual average was sixty four cents in 1874, while the lowest was thirty-one cents in 1878 The aggregate value of the crop has increased in ten years from $435,000,000 to $759 000 000 though the last crop was the smallest for the past seven years.

The commonly received advice to orchardists to scrape the rough bark from old apple trees has been contradicted, some having tried it and concluded that the practice did more harm than good The rough bark is a protection to the tree from sudden changes of temperature. The benefit often claimed from scraping the trees comes from the greater attention paid to them in other respects by men who take this trouble. Whitewashing apple trees is equally effectual for good

It has been discovered that potash for potatoes does little good unless applied early, and thoroughly mixed with the soil This may indicate either that the potato plant needs the potash in its earlier stages of growth, or that the alkali serves other purposes in developing plant food in the soil, which require a longer time It is probable that crude potash is rarely or never used as plant food As it absorbs nitrogen and becomes a nitrate of potash its virtues become available for plant nutrition

As far as possible the formation of manure heaps in the fields should be avoided. If formed, the practice of turning over the manure should be abandoned, as the labor is thus lost, and much manure wasted. The best authorities consider it best to cart the manure direct from the barnyards upon the lands and spread it at once The question of immediate plowing in, or covering the manure, is of less importance than has generally been imagined. On light soils however, immediate plowing under is recommended.

SHRINKAGE OF CORN.—A Kansas professor has made some experiments with a view to testing the shrinkage of corn by drying. He found that 145 days from the time of gathering, corn of several varieties on the ear shrank, on an average, 21½ per cent. It shrank however, more the first month after harvesting than in all the three months following Further experiment showed that the amount of cob by weight averaged from 11 to 16 per cent. The professor came to the conclusion that the rule of reckoning corn on the cob at 70 pounds to the bushel was allowing too much The figures may give a basis of calculation as to the best time to sell one's crop

CORN ENSILAGE OR HAY.—The New England Farmer says some of the farmers in and around Worcester, who are not yet quite converted to silos and ensilage, have been figuring on the cost of raising hay by the same rule adopted by the advocates of ensilage, when giving their profits from this new method.

The cost of a ton of corn ensilage in the silo, is variously estimated at from one dollar or less, to over six dollars, and two tons of ensilage is sometimes reckoned as being equal to one of dry hay, though the majority of the silo advocates do not place so high a relative value on the contents of their pits.

The Worcester county farmers, some of them at least, claim that the best upland hay can be grown and put in the mows at a cost not exceeding seven dollars per ton, while a few favored with specially good grass land estimate the cost as low as five dollars per ton.

Some also, have been surprised to find that an acre of common field corn, when the ears are beginning to grow, will weigh as heavily as the average fodder corn raised especially for the silo, and they believe that so long as grain is worth more per pound than stalks, the advantage of the silo over the corn crib and hay mow is more apparent than real.

The claims of converts to ensilage are very far from uniform in character, but a few years more of trial will doubtless settle the value of the system.

COUNTRY LIFE.

It is a significant fact that many of the greatest lights of the literary world have resided in the country. It is a universally admitted fact, by those competent to judge, that a residence away from the centres of commercial activity, is most conducive to physical health. So, it would seem, is it to the mental health and activity of man If a man start out to walk a given distance, it will require a certain time, according to the ability he possesses for walking If interruptions occur, the accomplishment of the proposed task will be delayed, just in proportion to the number and duration of these interruptions. In the almost inevitable and numerous demands upon the time of a resident of a large city, from one source or another, the absence of interruptions is well nigh impossible In the second place, communing with nature and all its wonderful works certainly does have a refining, elevating and purifying influence on the thought, that may have been suggested by more worldly surroundings The country air of Gad's Hill enabled Dickens to perpetuate his wonderful pictures of metropolitan life. The pure air of small New England villages has enabled our great American poets to sing the songs of beauty that will make their name forever revered, while it was stated at the recent meeting of the British Medical Association that some of the greatest elements of progress in the medical profession had been contributed by country doctors, indeed the very founder of that time-honored association was himself a country physician

ABRAM MOOR, Clerk.

Bangor, February 26th 1883

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned administrator of the estate of Jeremiah G Spaulding late of Orono, in said County, deceased respectfully represents that the goods and chattels rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration, and that it is necessary to sell all the real estate of which said deceased died seized, in order to pay said debts. Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell at public or private sale, and convey a certain lot of land together with the buildings thereon situated in Orono, in Penobscot County, being the homestead of the late Jeremiah Spaulding, and the same premises described in a deed, Wm Lunt to Spaulding, dated April 19 1877 and recorded in Penobscot County Registry of Deeds, Vol 4 7 page 482 Also another lot situated on the southerly side of Mill street in West Great Works, Penobscot County, bounded northerly by Mill Street; easterly by the Pulp Mill property, southerly by the Penobscot river, westerly by lot now occupied by Wm Green, or the real estate of the deceased, (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein,) to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration

Said real estate is the same described in a deed recorded in the Registry of Deeds of said County.

LETTER CARRIERS

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same be put on at the office Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails

Boxes at the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A M , and from 7½ to 8½ P M Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A M

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer if unclaimed within thirty days or less, written or printed with the writer's name, post office and State across the left end of the envelope on the face side, will be complied with

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge

First class envelopes of above furnished at $2.20 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars

Stamped envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

A YOUNG OLD LADY.

"Yes, Sir! I'm Younger than any of my Children now," said Mrs. Sarah M. Robinson, of 61 Williams St., New Haven, Conn.—"I Read about this Kind at Noble Ladies, but Seldom See them in Society.

"Yes, Sir, I'm younger than any of my children now. I keep up with the times, I read the papers, applaud the victories of old Yale, and don't grow old," were the words of Mrs Robinson to your reporter when he called at her home Mrs. Robinson is one of the earnest, go-ahead sort of aged ladies, of whom you read, but whom you so rarely find in modern society. "I've had my share of trouble," she said. "For all my life I've been a sufferer from erysipelas. From this has resulted diseased stomach and inaction of the digestive organs I've been troubled with dyspepsia, and have had such a weakness of the stomach it has seemed as if I needed something artificial and strengthening I attribute this to erysipelas, which is constitutional with me. I've been under the physician's care a great deal during my life, but I never received any permanent benefit I think until I began taking Dr Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, which has proved a perfect restorative in my case. My health is better now than it has been for a long time I consider Dr Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY an excellent medicine It is used extensively in this city. I keep it as a family medicine, and rely upon it for all I know of the good results of using it."

Your reporter left Mrs Robinson rejoicing in health and renewed youth, and bestowing merited praise on that which is the source of happiness to thousands, viz Dr Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY Ask your druggist for it. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has become a household word Everybody, sooner or later, gets sick, and sickness is both wearisome and costly FAVORITE REMEDY steps in at this point. It is not expensive and it is efficient. For all diseases of the blood, Bilious Disorders, Kidney complaints, Constipation, and the aches and ills which make the domestic life of women a cross so hard to bear.

WHEAT BITTERS

THE BEST AND The Richest BLOOD, BRAIN and NERVE -F-O-O-D-

CAREFULLY PREPARED, THOROUGHLY TESTED ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE.

The Phosphates of the Wheat are its most valuable food property and are when properly prepared, the most acceptable nutriment with which to build up the system.

The Blood Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to ward off sickness it is wise to BUILD FOR HEALTH.

Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates while the starch and impure matter are eliminated. These make in themselves a basis to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter It is at once healthful pleasant to the taste and must not be confounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls Medicine is doubly effective when used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.

DOWNS' ELIXIR.

N. H. DOWNS'

Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR

For the cure of

and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable if properly attended to—At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs, then an inflammation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient, whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free

Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1 00 per bottle.
